

Illness Delays Trial of Accused Pedophile

Phnom Penh Municipal Court postponed Wednesday the sentencing of a Frenchman, charged with debauchery in December, after he told the court he was too sick to stand trial. Olivier Frenoy, 34, has been at Prey Sar prison nearly eight months. He is accused of having oral sex with underage boys and taking pornographic pictures. Frenoy was in court for about 15 minutes before telling Presiding Judge Kong Set that he had a high fever and was unable to undergo questioning. The trial was postponed on the recommendation of Prosecutor Yet Chakriya. (Khouth Sophak Chakrya)
